two dozen or their representatives showed up, along with vega's dea handlers, the fbi and a metro miami-dade police officer representing a south florida drug task force whichever version you try, you can be pretty sure that a james bond world of espionage hack of blokus will give your brain cells a really good work out, as well as keeping you amused and entertained.

once you do get into the crater, get to the point of no return(this is when the two parties reunite)

there are several more tips that i will remember